Re: JIC Advisory Opinion 1993-07

Dear

In correspondence received by your office and forwarded to the Judicial Investigation Commission, an inquiry was made concerning the ethical propriety of a circuit judge participating in an _____ program, specifically Inn No. 87, in _____ West Virginia. Your correspondence and the attachments were reviewed by the Judicial Investigation Commission and additional information was requested from the _____ headquarters. After many months and repeated requests, additional information, though not entirely complete, has been received by the Commission.

Based upon the information the Commission currently has, it is felt that it would not be improper for a circuit judge to participate in an American Inn of Court program.

If the Commission can be of further assistance in this matter, do not hesitate to contact us.

Very truly yours,
