Re: JIC Advisory Opinion 1993-08

Dear

I have received a request from _____ Esq., concerning your participating in the role of the judge in a criminal trial made for high school video which deals with drinking and driving. _____ has provided a description of his project, and it appears directed to students as a tool to educate them about the criminal and civil legal process which is utilized when an individual is charged with driving under the influence.

From the description of the project provided by _____ it would appear that your activities would fall within those actions permissible under Canon 4B of the Code of Judicial Conduct and, therefore, would not constitute any ethical problem.

If there is any further question concerning this matter, do not hesitate to contact me.

Very truly yours,
