Intermediate Court of Appeals to Hold Ribbon-Cutting Ceremony for Beckley Courtroom

For immediate release

BECKLEY, W.Va. – There will be a ribbon-cutting ceremony at 10:30 a.m. Tuesday, October 11 for the new Raleigh County satellite courtroom that will be used by the Intermediate Court of Appeals of West Virginia (ICA).

Raleigh County Commission President Dave Tolliver and the three ICA Judges will attend.

The media is invited to attend. The event will also be on Facebook Live on the Supreme Court of Appeals of West Virginia Judiciary Facebook page:

<https://www.facebook.com/wvjudiciary>.

The event will be in the ceremonial courtroom on the second floor of the historic courthouse. Tours will be given of the new ICA courtroom nearby, including a demonstration of the webcast system between the satellite courtroom and the main ICA courtroom in Charleston.

The ICA began operating July 1, 2022. The three ICA Judges use a courtroom in the West Virginia Judicial Tower in Charleston. Litigants have the choice of traveling to Charleston for proceedings or using one of five satellite courtrooms around the state. Those courtrooms are in Beckley in Raleigh County, Petersburg in Grant County, Weston in Lewis County, Berkeley Springs in Morgan County, and New Martinsville in Wetzel County.

Each satellite courtroom

- Is in a space dedicated to the ICA,
- Has video conferencing equipment that provides secure connections to the Charleston ICA courtroom,
- Has furniture built by Herbert Hoover High School students, and
- Has bailiffs who will be present during all proceedings.
